

Black Mothers Raising Autistic Children in the UK: Mothering at the Margins

AUTHOR Melissa Green and Claire Malcolm
COLLECTION EDITED BY Jan Etienne

COLLECTION
Gender Studies

EDITION
1st edition

MARKET
College/higher education and Professional and scholarly

This course reading...

- Provides an intersectional exploration of the lived experiences of Black mothers raising Autistic children in the UK, contextualised through Critical Race Theory.
- Articulates directions for future research and offers a blueprint for collective and individual agency.
- Is ideal reading for students of Gender Studies, Disability Studies, Black Studies, Special Educational Needs, Social Work, and Psychology, as well as policy makers and educational administrators.

How can an interdisciplinary investigation into the lives of Black mothers raising Autistic children in the UK encourage us to scrutinise systemic barriers and advocate for change?

Drawing from personal experience raising autistic children and children on autism diagnosis pathways and Critical Race Theory, this pioneering text offers an unparalleled lens into the intersecting spheres of race, gender, and disability. Through case studies, critical assessments of current practice, and actionable solutions, authors Melissa Green and Claire Malcolm compel readers to confront and dismantle the intersecting oppressions faced by these mothers.

Amplifying the often-marginalised voices of Black mothers of autistic children, this book is ideal reading for students of Gender Studies, Disability Studies, Black Studies, Special Educational Needs, Social Work, and Psychology, as well as policy makers and educational administrators.

This goes as Author blurb on Book's Cover and Flyer. You can include information of your professional background, education, current business or profession, achievements, or awards.

Print edition: $40 / £50
Ebook editions: $50 / £65
Available as part of the 2023 Library Collection of 40 titles.